

Ways and Means to persuade policy makers to formalize structures for multi_stakeholders collaborations to arrest structural inequalities

Group members

Yapa Dharmasekara – Medical Practitioner

Preethi Perera- Nursing Tutor

Sabina Dhamal - Nurse

Gopal Saud- Pharmaceutical executive

Athaullah Ansari – senior Technical Officer

- 1. Need to better assessment of the existing policy framework and more development of practical alternatives where they are necessary.
- 2. There may be gap between policy makers and stakeholders, need to take holistic approach in decision making. We need intersectoral collaboration.

3. Need to use evidence based facts.

The role of research is very important in policy making, the problem with health sector that it has not been dynamic, our legislations, structures and way of doing things not changed for several years, need to match research output

- 4. There must be some forum where policy makers sit together with stake holders.
- 5. policy makers are some times more concerned about popularity and being voted it should be avoided.

- 6. Need private and government involvement to make policies. Now they are working separately
- 7. Need to establish monitoring agency
- 8. Need to maintain rules and regulations.
- 9. Need to develop good and active assessment tool.
- 10.. Need to conduct continuous educational programs.

Thank you